

To whom it may concern,

Hello, my name is Chad Coppess. I am the Program Administrator at Grace Adventures. I have had the privilege of getting to know Bethany Sanderson over this past summer as her supervisor. Bethany was our Media Specialist for this past summer. Her duties included shooting footage each week of up to five different camps at once, producing a video of each of those camps, taking still shots for promotions each week, taping and editing various testimonials, and finally helping develop, shoot, and edit several promotional videos for the ministry.

Bethany is a very creative yet organized individual. Bethany is also very relational and people connect with her well. She is very dedicated to her work and takes pride in a job well done. Bethany met all expectations within her job description this summer. She exceeded them at the end of the summer with the hard work she put into helping produce and edit many of the promotional videos that we will use in marketing this next year. Not only did she excel there but Bethany was willing to help out anywhere else the ministry needed her. She would jump in where she saw a need. Her professionalism was a testament to her character.

Bethany is a woman of strong morals and character. That comes out in her job performance as well as her interaction with her fellow staff. She lives by high standards and holds others to them as well. This not only improved the team but impacted individuals. She also has a strong ability to pick up and learn new things quickly. This results in her being very adaptable to different situations. I would strongly recommend her to anyone who is not only looking for a quality videographer but a strong team player too. If you have any questions, don't hesitate to contact me.

Sincerely,

Chad R. Coppess
Program Administrator
